

COUNCIL IN SESSION LAST MONDAY NIGHT

Adopts Resolution in Favor of Equal Pensions to Soldiers Regardless of Rank—Unable to Grant Baptist Church Exemption From Taxes on Certain Lots.

The town council met in regular session last Monday night with Mayor Best in the chair and Councillors Lavelle, Crowe, Oates, Howard and McLean present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary and approved as read.

The secretary informed the council that the auditor recommended that the storehouse and contents be insured, and a motion by Councillor Crowe, seconded by Councillor Lavelle, that the recommendation be concurred in was adopted.

A resolution passed by the city council of Niagara Falls, Ont., a copy of which had been forwarded to the Redcliff council, re the pension question, was read. The resolution called for a pension system for disabled soldiers that will treat officers and privates on an equal footing. A request by the Niagara Falls council that the Redcliff council take similar action accompanied the resolution, and after some discussion a similar resolution was unanimously passed and a copy of the same ordered forwarded to the parliamentary secretary at Ottawa.

The matter of exempting the Day street church congregation from taxes on lots recently bought on which they expect to build a church building in the future, was again up before the council. Town Solicitor Baird informed the council that they had no power to exempt church property from taxes unless the property was actually being used for church purposes. On this information the council was instructed to inform the Baptist church trustees that the town was unable to grant them exemption from taxation until they had built a church building thereon.

A communication from H. J. Sisson asking that water be extended to site where he proposed to erect a residence was read. The secretary was instructed to inform him that the town was unable to comply with his request at present, but that if he would advance the money for the water line the town would agree to refund the same when the debtors issued for water extension were sold.

The danger of an explosion of the high pressure gas supplied to the pumping station was brought up by Engineer Adewalt, who recommended that a small electric plant be installed for lighting purposes. The matter was referred to the water committee, they to report back to the council at its next meeting, giving the approximate cost of the same.

As there was nothing more to come before the council a motion was unanimously carried to adjourn.

Twelfth Lancers

Expatriate Their Office of 1812

Exactly 104 years ago, during the Peninsular War, the 12th Lancers, encamped in Spain, broke into one of the monasteries and razed the cellars. The Iron Duke, hearing of this, rode up and sentenced the regiment to expatriate their office in many years as there had been bottles drunk, taken away, or broken. The cellars at the monastery reckoned there were 104 bottles missing; and every evening since then, even during the present war, the regiment has done penance on the bottle. The tradition has just come to an end, and the Supply Department celebrated the occasion, says the "Excellator," by a magnificent charge.

This regiment received its nickname, "The Supply Train," on account of its grand march of 17 days before the Iron Duke's "penance" sentence. The custom has been for the band to play the hymn tunes every evening at tattoo. One version of the legend is that these hymns were promised the officers by King Louis XVI for the band to play.

REDCLIFF FIVE YEARS AGO.

Review, August 26, 1911.

A new pastor is expected to arrive at Redcliff very soon to take charge of the Presbyterian church here.

Joseph Sill is moving his grocery store to south Main street and will open a restaurant in connection.

Plasterers are now at work at the depot and within a few days "Agent Nick" will hang up the sign in the new station.

W. T. Lockwood accompanied a hunting party to the M. R. ranch near Seven Persons, this week.

Though fond of the sport, neither Mr. Lockwood nor his Redcliff friends care the least for the duck meat, and he follows the practice of making up success by the display of one wing feather for each bird that falls under his superb marksmanship.

The "buzz wagon" now bears the brilliant emblem on the lamp on the "bumble-bird" side merely to indicate that he is "buzz on," because everybody knows that if he goes hunting he gets the ducks.

Presbytery Meets In Medicine Hat

The Presbytery of Medicine Hat met in Knox church on Tuesday evening, August 26, 1916, and spent much time in weighing matters concerning the congregations under their charge. On Sabbath school, Rev. J. C. Robertson spoke with great clearness, outlining the new developments planned for its betterment. A special committee was appointed to consult as to the possibility of holding local conventions in co-operation with the congregations, and to call such convention wherever advisable.

A carefully prepared report on the state of finance in the several congregations was presented by Rev. Mr. Gordon, in which it was made plain that the 1915 year the hardest year in the history of these churches, and that they face this year's work and responsibilities with a hope of large increase.

Mr. Robertson appeared before the Presbytery at the request of the board of finance in the interest of the large deficit which has been permitted to accumulate on the home and foreign missions fund. He presented a list of all the congregations and mission fields to make a special effort on the Sabbath preceding Thanksgiving Day in a thanksgiving offering to help to wipe out this debt, which amounts to $170,000.

In the evening the meeting was held in Westminster church and was occupied with the ordination of Mr. R. R. MacKinnon, a sermon from the words: "I will now turn aside and see this great night." Then after the usual services, a ritual of Presbyterian usage, Mr. MacKinnon was solemnly ordained to the holy ministry.

W. W. Watt was also solemnly ordained in an address full of wit and instruction.

Roumanians Invade Austria-Hungary

Immediately after entering the war Roumanians started an invasion of Austria-Hungary and so far they have been meeting with success.

On the Danube, from the Iron Gate to Giurgievo, opposite Rastchuk, Bulgaria, there have been reciprocal bombardments at several points by Austro-Hungarian war craft and Roumanian batteries. A Zeppelin and hostile aeroplanes have dropped bombs on the Roumanian capital.

Austria's acknowledgement of the retirement of her forces in the mountain region to previously prepared positions in the rear has been followed by the capture of the fortress of Presburg of King Ferdinand have arrived at a point within three miles of Kronstadt, the chief commercial city of Transylvania. Vienna admits that the Roumanians are engaged with the Austro-Hungarians in the Gyergye mountains, which shows that Roumanian forces have invaded Transylvania to a distance of some 25 miles. The Roumanians are also near Kiova Vasharely, about 40 miles northeast of Kronstadt.

Elevator Here is Ready For Business

Redcliff, Geo & Mitchell, the grain commission company which has taken over the grain elevator at this point, have completed the alterations on the building and now have everything in good shape for handling their year's crop.

Representatives of the company have been in town during the past week and have made all arrangements for the operating of the elevator at once.

J. L. Landin, of this town, has been appointed the company's representative and buyer and will take over the management on Saturday. Mr. Landin has had some experience in the grain business and as he is well known in the fact that he is a large man has no doubt he will conduct the business to the best interests of all concerned.

Although there have been some complaints in the past about the price paid here as compared with other points, we are assured that the new elevator will get the best possible deal at this elevator in future.

Surprise Party at Mrs. A. McKay's

It was gotten up by her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Jeffries, and kept as quiet as a trapped mouse, until on Thursday at about a large number of lady friends, walked into Mrs. Albert McKay's home and wished her many congratulations on her birthday. After much felicitation and other kinds of afternoon enjoyment, Mrs. Jeffries served a delightful luncheon. Father and mother presented their daughter with a handsome piece of silverware. The ladies left the hearty good wishes which they and many others still continue to hold for Mr. and Mrs. McKay and their family.

Praises Part of Canada in War

The following letter from Col. Theodore Roosevelt has been received by Major Stuart, of the Duchess of Connaught's Own Irish-Canadian Rangers:

"The following letter from Col. Theodore Roosevelt has been received by Major Stuart, of the Duchess of Connaught's Own Irish-Canadian Rangers: 'I wish to take this opportunity of expressing to you the interests which I feel in the formation of your regiment, the Irish-Canadian Rangers, representing Irish descent of every creed. Through you I send them my heartiest good wishes and congratulations. 'I wish also to express my admiration of the part Canada has played in this war, and my sincere belief that the place Canada has won for herself in the council of nations as the result of her sacrifices which has made on the field of honor through a great ideal. It is only through such sacrifices for a lofty ideal that real nationhood can be achieved. With the heartiest good wishes, I am, faithfully yours, 'THEODORE ROOSEVELT.' 'New York, Aug. 19, 1916.'"

Activities Revived On All War Fronts

The entry of Roumania into the war seems to have been the cause of renewed activities on all fronts and the result has been most encouraging for the Allies.

An official report from London says: "Fighting is very severe all along the Macedonian front. It adds that Bulgarian troops have suffered a severe check at the hand of the Serbians on the entire left flank and that the Bulgarian losses are estimated at 15,000 men.

Paris reports that German troops penetrated the French frontier, near the Parroy forest in Lorraine, last night, but were immediately ejected by a counter-attack.

Official announcement from Bucharest states that the passage of Russian troops through Roumania has begun. A Petrograd correspondent says: "Roumania's task obviously was not confined to the Bulgarians alone, where a decision would be merely of secondary consequence. Russia has ready considerable forces for use in the Balkans, composed of former Austro-Hungarian subjects, fully armed and equipped, and of Bulgarian, French, and partly by Serbians. These forces have taken the oath of allegiance to the emperor of Russia, and will fight under the Russian flag."

RUMANIA HAS DECLARED WAR ON THE ENEMY

Already Enter Transylvania and Press Toward Galicia Border—Will Put About Million Men in Field.

Roumania has thrown in her lot with the entente allies, having declared war against Austria-Hungary and almost simultaneously Germany has announced that a state of war exists between Germany and Roumania.

Already the troops of King Ferdinand are seeking entry into the plains of Transylvania through the eastern Carpathians, mountain passes toward Konstant, the chief city in Transylvania, and in the direction of Hermannstadt, evidently in an endeavor to press northwest through Transylvania toward the Bukovina and Galician borders and take in the rear the Austro-Hungarian forces who are trying to hold back the armies from entering the plains of Hungary.

As yet nothing has come through to indicate what preparations have been made by the Bulgarians, for, as now seems probable, Roumania declared war on Bulgaria in order to prevent an attack by the Roumanians along the Danube front or a possible attempt to relieve the whole balance of the Balkans. Roumania has been made by the Bulgarians, for, as now seems probable, Roumania declared war on Bulgaria in order to prevent an attack by the Roumanians along the Danube front or a possible attempt to relieve the whole balance of the Balkans.

With reference to the military significance of Roumania's action the papers all assert that the entry of Roumania into the war will be a powerful move in the struggle in the eastern and southeastern theaters, bringing Bulgaria between the upper and lower Danube and offers Roumania a route to the heart of the enemy's country, a route the defense of which involves a large extension of the enemy's line and an enormous increase in the enemy's responsibilities.

The importance of Roumania's move is the loss to the central powers of supplies they have been drawing from the big Balkan states.

Germany has been receiving cattle, wheat and petroleum from Roumania in the past, and now it is cut off, when the demand is more urgent than ever.

In his declaration of war Roumania gives the following as his reason for entering the struggle at the present time:

"The persecution of Roumanians by Austro-Hungarian officials is alleged, and it is charged that agreements which existed between Roumania and the former members of the triple alliance have been broken in letter and spirit, from the time Germany and Austria entered the war.

Italy, the declaration says, was obliged to detach herself from Austria-Hungary and Germany. In conclusion, the communication sets forth as follows the motives in compelling Roumania to enter the war.

First—"The Roumanian population in Roumanian territory exposed to the arms and shelling of the enemy."

Second—"Roumania believes that by intervening she can shorten the war."

Third—"Roumania places herself on the side of those powers which she believes as assist her most efficaciously in realizing her national ideals."

THANKSGIVING DAY OCTOBER 9TH

Thanksgiving Day has been fixed this year for the second Monday in October, the sixth of the month. The order-in-council fixing the date was passed at Ottawa yesterday.

Mrs. George Dill Is Given Surprise

Last Thursday night the many friends of Mrs. Geo. Dill gathered together and proceeded to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Towell to the purpose of giving Mrs. Dill a surprise. There were about 40 in the party and Mrs. Dill was delighted.

During the early part of the evening Mrs. G. L. Gordon arose and in a neat little speech presented Mrs. Dill, on behalf of those present, with a message of service, and a very token of their appreciation. Mrs. Dill was so surprised that it was with some difficulty that she responded, but thanked these present for the very beautiful gift and assured those present that she would always remember her many friends here and regretted very much that she was leaving Redcliff.

Cats, music and dancing was the order of the evening, and a very substantial lunch was served which was enjoyed by all.

After the party and family expect to leave tonight for Moose Jaw where they will join husband and father, who is employed by the C. P. R. at that point.

Washington Hopes To Avert Big Strike

The threatened strike of all the railroad men in the United States is now assuming serious proportions. Unless their grievances are righted they threaten to walk out next Monday morning at 7 a.m.

President Wilson has been working hard in an endeavor to avert the turmoil which must naturally follow the strike of such tremendous proportions but so far conditions are far from being any too encouraging.

Latest reports from Washington state that the influence of the administration was brought to bear in an effort to persuade the railroad brotherhood leaders to cancel or postpone the order calling a nation-wide strike Monday, while leaders in congress have been busy the way for legislation designed to prevent or stop the threatened industrial catastrophe.

Little tangible progress was made in this direction, but nevertheless the official quarters there still prevailed confidence that in one way or another the matter would be averted.

To the spokesman of President Wilson, who approached them, all of the railroad officials gave reply that they had not power to recall the strike order and that only one thing—"a satisfactory settlement"—could bring their men to work after 7 a.m. Labor Day. Further pressure will be brought to bear and as a last resort the president is considering a public appeal to the men themselves to have the order rescinded.

Already the threatened strike is having a serious effect on business all over the continent. Railroads in the states are refusing to take shipments of perishable goods and the growing shortage of foodstuffs in the large centers is already being felt.

Up to the past few days there has been a great homebound rush of American tourists from all parts of the country. The number of tourists at Banff and other resorts in the Canadian Rockies but the rush has been so great the last few days that extra trains have been put on to accommodate them.

President Wilson is exerting every energy in an effort to stall the strike by seen from the latest reports from Washington.

CUTTING IS NOW GENERAL AROUND HERE

All Danger of Damage to Crops Is Now Practically Over—A Large Yield Is Expected—Threshing Will Start Next Week.

The weather so far this week has been ideal for ripening the grain and practically all crops are out of danger in this section. Practically all the grain in the Box Springs district north of town has been cut and threshing will commence next week.

To the west and northwest of town, where the soil is heavy, cutting has just commenced but by the first of next week the bulk of the grain will be quite general in this section.

All kinds of grain will show a big yield in this district, and it is expected that the wheat crop will run from 30 to 45 bushels to the acre. Oats are expected to yield from 60 to 100 bushels.

There are several more threshing outfits in this district than last year and it is expected that there will be over much sooner than last year, which will give the farmers an opportunity to get their grain in a much less cold weather season.

Queen Mother As Vicerine in Ireland

The Illustrated Weekly Graphic this week put forward a proposal that Queen Alexandra become vicerine of Ireland, with a suitable residence in or near Dublin, urging that she would do so in a much less than the politicians have done in years toward a solution of the Irish question.

The only daily which has taken up the suggestion is the Star, which says: "There may be formal and ceremonial in the way, but in great emergencies forms and ceremonies ought to be swept away."

National Exhibition Opens at Toronto

The Canadian National Exhibition opened at Toronto on Monday, has been designed to symbolize the unity of the Allies against the military menace of Prussia. The exhibition was opened by Sir George Perly and "Kitchener" Friday of this week.

A feature of special interest to westerners is the excellent exhibit made by the Canadian Pacific Railway, showing the agricultural minerals, timber, fisheries and fur bearing resources of Canada, particularly of the western provinces.

New Name to Be Celebrated in Silence

At a special of the city of council of Berlin, Ont., held last Monday night, the purpose of the meeting was to make arrangements for the inauguration of the new name for the city, "Kitchener." Friday of this week decided that no greater tribute could be paid to the memory of Earl Kitchener than by foregoing the regular celebration of the event and allowing the new name Kitchener to take the place of Berlin in silence.

On the Verdun front on Monday night French troops made progress against the German lines. Attacks in the vicinity of Fleury and Vaux were repulsed.

"On the Somme, as at Verdun, we are leading in the offensive and dominating the adversary," says an official note reviewing last week's operations on the French front.

The war office has announced that the British casualties for last week totaling 31,372 officers and men, 1,047 were officers, of whom 278 were killed. The casualties among the enemy were 30,025, of whom 4,861 were killed.

SPORTSMEN!

In every man, who has seen the myriad flights of water fowl during the summer months, these days, immediately preceding the first of September, when the state says "you may," there is a tingling desire to be ready when Old Sol sends the first ray of light across the feeding grounds of the feathered beauties. That the various "bags" will not tally with the enthusiastic and elaborate preparation is sure. Nevertheless, to see men on the "qui vive" even for the hour of breaking day, full of enthusiasm, is suggestive of power, which, under careful direction, and applied to any setting with persistent energy, will produce results of permanent advantage to the individual citizen, and community in general.

If we could apply the true spirit of a sportsman to the various rounds of activity, no real labor would appear which did not afford real opportunity the improvement of which, yielding its own quota of satisfaction of achievement.

The spirit of a true sportsman does not recognize the selfish individualism which so frequently alienates the sympathies of men in the round of business competition. Every man who, located at some strategic point, is able to turn to account the reaction of his neighbor on some other lake in the chain, and, at the end of the day, join in the delight of the total "bag" of the "party," though he may have been alone many hours of the day, should catch the very helpful and necessary lesson of co-operation with his neighbor in all rounds of activity.

If all who go for a shoot on Friday the first of September, apply the true spirit of a sportsman, during the ensuing year, the anniversary of the day will mean infinitely more than the ruthless slaughter of game—it will mean the glad commemoration of an irrevocable spirit of "team-work" which will laugh at impossibilities, and cry: "It shall be done!"

PROSPECTIVE DEVELOPMENT.

The harvest in Southern Alberta is now out of the danger zone, and while the yield in number of bushels per acre may be less than the bumper crop of 1915, the prices obtained this year will be higher, making a decided advance on all previous years' crop.

Many farmers were able to get square with outstanding liabilities last year, and will have a handsome surplus this year, with which to undertake improvements, and branch out generally. The chastening experiences of the lean years should be carefully remembered and plans laid for reducing the risk involved in trying to carry all one's "eggs in one basket." The farmer who improves his opportunity for handling stock will find a decided lessening of his worry in the years following, and will add very largely to his receipts.

It should also be possible, and it seems to us a very opportune time for producers to get together in a co-operative way to supply their own needs, as in machinery, etc., for the subsequent development of the vast area yet to be brought under cultivation in the prairie provinces.

The initial expense of such an undertaking, distributed among the hundreds who would be served by the movement, would not be great and the advantage is lessened cost of the implements required each year, would prove the wisdom of the undertaking in a very short time. This is the problem confronting the farmer in the Canadian west, and, collectively they will pay their tribute to the manufacturer in the east and south, just as long as they hesitate to hold of the circumstances, and by co-operation take care of their own requirements. A careful organization would bring about a material bettering of the conditions under which the western farmer has to labor, and justify the expenditure of energy necessary to get the movement in full swing.

ROMANIA IN THE WAR.

The entry of Romania into the war at this stage cannot be taken to mean that Romania has thrown itself into the breach to save civilization in its hour of peril. Rather its action may be taken as a proof that that country sees which way the wind is blowing and, as a result, now sees the possibility of enlarging its territory. With that object in mind, the Romanians have waited for the time when they could make the effort with the least risk. Their decision that this is the time is another proof that hitherto neutral powers are more confident than ever of the ultimate success of the Allies. It is a result of the Russian advances and of the western offensives on the western and Macedonian fronts. It reflects confidence in Romania that the Russians have "come back" to stay—and that the Allies generally have things in shape to win. Be that as it may, however, the entrance of Romania into the war at the present time will have a far-reaching effect upon all concerned. It will mean the placing of a million more men in the field on the side of the Allies, thus lessening Russia's task on the western front and affording her greater freedom of action. Of equally great importance it will mean the cutting off of a large source of supplies which the Austro-Germans have been depending on.

On the whole this intervention will surely have an economic, political and moral effect, and will no doubt contribute some towards the shortening of the war.

OUR OPPORTUNITY.

After a visit to some of the larger centres of this province we are more convinced than ever that Alberta is on the threshold of great development, especially along agricultural lines.

The record crops of this province for the past two years have attracted the attention of young farmers both in the south and in the older provinces of the east. This year, more than ever before, the young men who are coming west are coming for a good purpose. Besides coming to help with the harvest, they are looking around for land to purchase with the object of branching out for themselves. We met a number of these young men on the trains and after talking with them we were more convinced than ever that a golden opportunity to develop the vacant land in this district is slipping away.

Under present conditions there is no use trying to attract land seekers to come this way as most of the best of our vacant land is controlled by the Southern Alberta Land Company. In view of these conditions we are reminded again that something should be done to make agricultural development in this district possible, and that now is the time.

DON'T FORGOT SHOOTERS.

Now that shooting is about to open it would be well if our shooters would remember a few don'ts.

Don't handle your gun like a common knife and fork. Be a member, it is made to kill. Don't point your gun at anything except the game you are out to kill. Don't get into a car or rig with your gun loaded. Don't get excited when you see your game. Don't take down a farmer's fence or leave the gates open. Don't throw lighted cigars, cigarettes or matches carelessly on the prairie. Don't crawl through a fence and pull your loaded gun through after you by the barrel. Don't keep your fingers on the triggers of your gun when it is cocked. The trigger-guard is for that purpose. Don't get too familiar with your gun. Familiarity breeds danger.

Mr. E. L. Stone, the local news ruler of this paper, left for Edmonton, and points north, last Thursday night. That a "rolling stone gathers no moss" apparently does not deter this general pen-pusher from prolonging his vacation. If he is working the old rag—"gathering news," there is no wonder if his industry at this receiving end. It is conceivable that "Cephus" may roll beyond the confines of Alberta, where his unquestioned "gathering" capacity should justify even a prolonged sojourn.

Crimes of Huns

Scored by Coroner

Inquests on seven victims of the Zeppelin which reached the outskirts of London early last Friday morning, were held last Monday. The victims were two men, three women and two children, including a husband and wife and their 22-month-old child. The coroner in summing up, said: "As to the horrible nature of the thing we cannot say much. As well known statesman said: 'You cannot reason with a beast. It only knows to do to shoot him. It is no use supposing to tame the thing being so in this case it is no use howling about it. We must take up our weapons to deal with this power which is responsible for this war on women and children.'"

The jury returned a verdict of death due to bombs dropped from a German Zeppelin.

C. N. R. Now Busy

On Several Branches

In addition to betterments and improvements on various lines under operation, the Canadian Northern this year intends to make 56 miles of track on the line from Edmonton westward, and also grading some 35 miles of the Lake Louise branch from "Dundee" southward, and completing the grading on the Thunder hill for 47 miles west of Freesville. The company is grading on Hanna-Medicine Hat line between Hanna and the Red Deer river, a distance of 60 miles, also completing grading on the Oliver-St. Paul de Metis line to the hundred mile center, from Oliver, and laying 60 or 70 miles of steel on this branch this fall. It is building a short line from the main line to the Brule Lake coal fields, a distance of 24 miles, which will be completed about the end of October.

Dry Cleaning Feathers

Into a strong paper bag put about one cupful of plain household flour and half the quantity of bicarbonate of soda. Shake well to thoroughly mix, then put the feathers in the bag and shake gently till clean. If very dirty, repeat this process. This is as much more satisfactory than using soap and water, as it never requires rinsing.

Cleaning White Spots

To make faded white spots look like new, take a basin of warm water and some good white soap; wash well and rinse, but do not wring out. Hang them up perfectly wet at night in a warm place, and in the morning they will be smooth and ready to wear.

Handy Covers

A box of cheap white paper, such as is used in offices for making carbon copies, and a box of elastic bands of assorted sizes are a great convenience in the kitchen. With a sheet of paper and a band of the right size a cover is instantly available for any dish when wanted.

ON LAW

A BOUT the two crookedest things I know is a corset and the law. Of these two I perhaps know the corset best and on several occasions have been able to use it to advantage which is more than I can say of the law. Law is the marriage—your husband, wife, it but there's no telling what it will do to you. Just to show you: "Tender day, Bill Carr had old Galt Jones up in court for smashing him over the head with a handspike. Everybody sympathized with Galt and no body liked old man Jones, so we all hoped for the best. Well, it happened to be one of Judge Wilson's chance and able days and as he was feeling 'middle' fair, having a good dinner, he up and let old Jones off the hook. Even though it was proved that he did drive poor Carr plumb through the hedge with that handspike. But just as we all got up to leave the court house, a fit of indigestion hit the judge plumb in the pit of the stomach and I'm dinged he didn't turn round and see Jones two dollars and cents for driving a car without a license. Fact!

Rhodes' Hens
Mr. Cecil Rhodes always took one or two hens with him on his many long voyages between England and the Cape. Another well known South African who had frequently made the trip in the same vessel as Mr. Rhodes, was asked why he, too, did not take some hens with him. "It isn't necessary," he said, "You see, I always tip the man who looks after Rhodes' hens, and I get the eggs."

Pinch Da Nut

YOU HAVE PINCH DA NUT? PINCH DA NUT? PINCH DA NUT? COCA-COLA

An Italian who kept a fruit stand was much annoyed by possible customers who made a practice of handling the fruit and pinching it, thereby leaving it spoiled, and often spilling. Exasperated beyond endurance, he finally put up a sign which read: "If you must pinch da fruit, pinch da cocconati!"

Making Amends

Mr. Housewife stalked indignantly into the baker's. "Those currant buns you sent me yesterday afternoon—" she began harshly. "Nothing wrong, I hope, madam?" returned the baker. "Yes, there is. One of them had a dead fly in it in place of a currant." "I'm most awfully sorry!" answered the baker earnestly. "I can't let a serious thing like this pass without doing something by way of reparation. If you will return me the fly, madam, I'll give you a currant in exchange!"

The Footlights.

A Last Opportunity.

The latest man on earth was residing against a wall. An acquaintance, passing by, called out: "I say, Jim, there's a tall-corned thing close to your door!" The lady one did not bother to look, but answered laconically: "No, thank you! What a pity I've not my hands in one pocket!"

Suggests New Plan

To Govern Montreal

Controllor Villeneuve, of Montreal, who is in his first year as a member of the board of control, in a state of mind, should the lieutenant-governor of Quebec appoint Villeneuve's charter, reject the mayor, controllers, and aldermen, and appoint a commission of seven members to take complete control of city affairs for two years, and he suggests that the board of trade, the chamber of commerce, manufacturers' association and labor organizations take the matter up, and petition the Quebec government to make the change in order that the city may once more be placed upon a sound financial basis. Controllor Villeneuve says he is willing to step out.

Control Soup
Put a slice in the middle of a pint of chicken, cover with boiling water and let boil two minutes. Drain well, take off shells, add a teaspoonful of butter and shake over a quick fire five minutes. Put the chicken in a pan with one quart beef broth or chicken broth. Let simmer until tender, then press the chicken through a sieve, leaving the soup to a boil again for five minutes to a cooler place and stir in the beaten yolks of three eggs.

Laundering Colored Fabrics

Bright and delicately colored fabrics are often ruined in the process of laundering by soap being rubbed upon them or a bit accidentally splashing to them. To prevent such a mishap, keep your bar of laundry soap, while washing, tied up in a small sack of this material. Better rule can be made in this way, and also every bit of soap can be used, preventing all waste.

Capt. J. Moses Cowen visited Redcliff last Sunday. Home Pingle accompanied him.

FOR SALE—Thirty young work horses. Apply at the Redcliff Livestock and Sale Stable.

Mrs. Horan Beaton, of Fort William, Ont., is the guest of Mrs. Patrick Lavell this week.

We give a pencil and blotter free with every purchase of school supplies amounting to 25c or over. Blundell's.

Hilda Bedford left last Thursday evening for Jasper Park, where she will visit friends for a few months.

Mrs. E. L. Stone, who has been visiting in Edmonton for the past two months, returned home yesterday.

Next Monday will be Labor Day and will be observed as a holiday all day throughout Canada. As its name would indicate this is the laboring man's special holiday.

The Presbyterian Ladies' Aid give a 15-cent tea next Thursday afternoon beginning at three o'clock. It will be held in the church and will no doubt be worthy of its predecessors.

Mr. M. Johnson, of Tabor, provincial mine inspector, was in town last Tuesday. He inspected the local coal mine and informed the Review that it was in fairly good condition.

Miss Jennie Wolf, who has been in town for three years and very popular with young and old, left this morning on the early train for Minneapolis, where she intends to reside for some time.

As all the Review staff except one have been off on a holiday for the past week this issue will be a little late. However now that they are all back on the job again we hope to get into the old swing by next issue.

A sale of home cooking will be held by the Baptist ladies on Saturday from 2 to 5:30 p.m. at Mrs. Washington's boarding house. White and brown bread, pies, cakes, short bread and other dainties will be on sale. Ice cream or afternoon tea will be served.

Tom Fountain, the genial man-about-town, has decided to stay with Redcliff, and is now residing on First street south, with "gas" connection completed. Tom's range of vision, with this new motive power, should make him in very truth, a "terror to evildoers."

Mayor Bott has obtained a new gun, whether it is British edge gun or a French 75 we have not been informed. No doubt he expects to be the "high gun" on the first. We are withholding our opinion but trust that he does not have to buy him and eggs for his dinner.

Mayor Bott was visiting at Howell on Sunday afternoon and reports crops in that district are in excellent condition. He considers the locality very conducive to the study of philosophy but we are at a loss to know what this has to do with the crop outlook.

Mr. R. L. Aultman, in receipt of a liberal consignment of "dried fruit and angel-food" from the sunny slopes of California, we have no doubt but he will share his good fortune as, with his fate, he pours forth "profuse strains of unappreciated art."

New Corduons and velvetinas at Gibson & Tupper.

School opens next Tuesday. Get your scribbles and school supplies at Blundell's. See our windows.

S. Murphy, who at one time ran a blacksmith shop here, arrived in town today from Nova Scotia, where he has been for the past few years.

Mr. H. E. Howard is representing the local S. O. E. lodge at the convention of the Grand Lodge of Alberta at Red Deer Monday next.

Bring your list of school textbooks and supplies to Blundell's; we'll do the rest. Our prices are right. Phone 20.

Mrs. Wm. Moran was taken to the Medicine Hat hospital last Thursday morning, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis. She is improving fast and it is expected she will be home tomorrow in a few days.

The young daughter of Mrs. Brayley was taken to the hospital in the Hat last Sunday, suffering with appendicitis. She has since been operated on and at last accounts she was doing quite well.

Mr. H. W. Harper, manager of the Royal bank, is very busily engaged as expert gunsmith, and general all-round mechanic, these days. If your wheel-harrow doesn't eject shells promptly give him a trial.

One of our leading citizens had occasion to pull himself up with a jerk on Tuesday last, when endeavoring to secure gasoline, prior to having secured a license to operate his car. The temporary embarrassment to delay of "getting tank filled" has given place to a genial smile since he has made application for registration as a reliable driver.

R. J. Crowe, proprietor of the Ideal Tobacco Store and Billiard Parlor, has established a reputation for being a man of many parts. For some time past his nocturnal surprise, for the explicit purposes of reducing surplus expenditures, have been spectacular. Mr. "Crow" now vies with the woodpecker. This bird digs its hole deeper at winter approaches, while Mr. Crowe rises with the sun to close up all the cracks in and around his home building.

C. W. Reade, enterprising manager of the local branch of the Imperial bank, has had an interesting week having been a victim of the wiles and blandishments of bustling vendors of touring cars. He has survived the "sales" with unblemished honor and is now the proud owner of a "Chevrolet." It is a matter of interesting speculation, being unattached and eminently eligible, of how long Mr. Reade will be able to withstand the "right that lies in woman's eyes, and lies, and lies."

Fred O'Fallon, of the City Meat Market, has secured a pair of Chinese ducks to use as decoys during the shooting season. These beautiful birds are on exhibition at the shop. As the visitor gazes with wrapt admiration on these live feathered beauties, O'Fallon waxes eloquent on their seductive possibilities. Their range of vision is some ten miles; their squawk is easily heard the same distance, and all that is necessary with such decoys, which will never stop squawking when anchored in myriad formation. Mr. O'Fallon is so convinced of the excellence of his "bunch of decoys" he claims his wife will be able to gather in "carnegie backs" when he appears if she takes up a position anywhere near these Chinese decoys. In fact these ducks will produce better results if placed in the back yard than will be realized by the sports with "tin snappers" and double-barreled shot-guns.

D. Broadfoot sold three fine horses to the representatives of the French government who have been in this district buying army horses.

A memorial service for the late Albert Cann, a Redcliff boy who was recently killed in action, will be held in St. Ambrose church next Sunday evening.

J. C. Reid has purchased a fine new Chevrolet car which he will use for his auto service between here and the Hat. He will now have two cars for this service owing to the increasing business.

For a car of wheat bought last Thursday the Great Western Grain Company paid $2,708.56. This is a new record. A few years ago if a farmer got $1,000 for a car it was the talk of the countryside.

The gardens planted by the school children on the school grounds this season turned out most satisfactorily. Besides improving the appearance of the grounds great interest was taken in them by most of the children. The teachers are now judging the different plots and the prizes will be awarded next week.

The trial of the Manitoba ex-ministers has cost the province $150,000 and now that the curtain has been rung down on the first performance the country is no further ahead than it was at the commencement of the trial. If the accused had been ordinary individuals they would likely have been tried and convicted for about $850.

Miss Harlow, of the town hall staff, returned home this week from her holiday trip to Winnipeg.

New line of winter dress goods and suits for ladies and children. Gibson & Tupper.

Our new stock of fall and winter millinery will arrive in a short time. Nothing old; everything new and up-to-date. Gibson & Tupper.

Charley Symons, formerly of the Royal bank staff here, is now in a hospital in England, suffering from trench fever.

Rev. H. C. B. Gibson and Miss Gibson, who have been visiting in Saskatchewan for the past two weeks, will return home tonight.

The Review is in receipt of a card from J. Ketchen, a Redcliff boy now at the front. He reports that he is quite well and has escaped any accident so far.

Quite a number from here went to Medicine Hat on Labor Day to take in the sports but they were disappointed as the sports were called off owing to the wet weather.

The 176th battalion is now up to full strength. Fifty Japs have recently joined and they are in command of Lieut. Basil Jones. A number of Redcliff boys are in this battalion.

Mrs. Cann received word this week from one of the officers of the battalion with which her son was fighting at the time he met his death. The letter states Alfred was killed in action while engaged as bomb thrower.

H. W. Harper, manager of the Royal bank here, left yesterday for Moose Jaw to meet Mrs. Harper, who is returning home after spending the summer visiting friends in Scott, Sask.

Miss Cowburn, who has been employed as stenographer at the Stoner Agency, left yesterday for Medicine Hat to accept a similar position with the Dominion Harvester Company. Miss Cowburn was very sorry to leave Redcliff and expressed the hope that she would be able to get back again soon.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Gust left early Monday morning intending to take a motor trip to Lethbridge. They got as far as Boylston when the rain came on and S. E. says as water will not mix with his gasoline he had to return. He says he thought Alberta went dry last July else he would not have ventured so far from home.

The wet weather of Labor Day spoiled what otherwise might have been an interesting shooting competition. Several parties were arranged and the securing the smallest bag was to pay for the shells for the day. An early start was made and the contest was one by the Lockwood, Host, Crowe and Hatcher party. The others got from 15 to 50 before the rain came on.

Since the commencement of harvesting the Review has placed a number of harvests with farmers in the district. Yesterday we found employment for the last two of our list. These were J. J. Bott and W. T. Lockwood, who start in stocking north of town next Monday. For the balance of harvest their town offices will only be open for business between 9 a. m. and 6 p. m.

In two weeks Old Man Ontario will set his beer glass on the counter and wipe his lips for the last time in many long dry days. September 15, 1916, will become one of the famous dates in Ontario history. It will signify in any event the beginning of a great experiment; it may prove the last of spirituous beverages. The tide of events in the next few months will decide the latter—Toronto World.

The labor unions of the east are demanding government regulation of foodstuffs and fuel during the war.

Bring your list of school text books and supplies to Blundell's; we'll do the rest. Our prices are right. Phone 20.

Thos. Chambers, who left Redcliff to join the 50th battalion, is now mentioned among the wounded. While here, Chambers was employed at the Brick & Coal plant.

A special general meeting of the "New" Club will be held in the club rooms next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. All men interested are requested to attend.

During the past week the wheat market has had a steady upward slide. For the first three days of the week it took a jump of two cents each day. Yesterday No. 1 was quoted at the elevator here at $1.42.

School re-opened for the fall and winter term last Tuesday. There has been a good attendance for the opening week and it is expected that this will be greatly increased almost immediately. Another teacher has been added to the staff, making eight in all. Already the term's work is well under way.

The Overland greenhouse here has had a exceptionally busy summer this year. The business has shown a marked improvement over last year and at no point has the improvement been so noticeable as right here in Redcliff. During July and August of this year the trade was just about ten times as large as during the same two months last year. This is only another evidence of the growing prosperity of the town.

R. Wray has received a letter from Clarence Walker of Redcliff, from "somewhere" in France, dated Aug. 17th. He states he is just from the trenches for a rest. He also mentions the death of Jack Brayley and says the rest of the Redcliff boys with the 6th are well and hearty and a couple of days before writing. He speaks of items he has read in the Redcliff Review and says how pleased he always is to receive it and through it news of the old town. He finishes by adding to be kindly remembered to all old friends.

Not content with the great success of his living devices Fred O'Fallon has unearthed another scheme for sneaking up on the city's wild quackers. His latest scheme is to mount his horse and ride into the center of the trough. His trained decoys are employed to do the work. They are allowed to circle around the horse and lead their feathered friends within arm's length of Fred, who gathers them in, then pulls for the shore. O'Fallon's first attempt he got one in each hand. Imagine his disappointment, however, when at reaching shore he discovered he had only netted his two faithful decoys.

BRITISH BELIEVE THE BREMEN WAS CAPTURED. The general opinion in London is that the British naval forces have captured the submarine Bremen, according to messages arriving Tuesday on the liner Camerounian. The Bremen is believed by Londoners to have been safely stored away in some British port.

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

A new line of fall and winter coatings at Gibson & Tupper.

Get some of the new patriotic scribbles at Blundell's. "The best you ever saw; 6 for 25c."

Capt. J. Mason Cowen visited Redcliff last Sunday. Hume Pingle accompanied him.

FOR SALE—Thirty young work horses. Apply at the Redcliff Livery and Sale Stable.

Mrs. Homer Beaton, of Port William, Ont., is the guest of Mrs. Patrick Lavelle this week.

We give a pencil and blotter free with every purchase of school supplies amounting to 25c or over. Blundell's.

Hilda Bedford left last Thursday evening for Jasper Park, where she will visit friends for a few months.

Mrs. E. L. Stone, who has been visiting in Edmonton for the past two months, returned home yesterday.

Next Monday will be Labor Day and will be observed as a public holiday throughout Canada. As its name would indicate this is the laboring man's special holiday.

The Presbyterian Ladies' Aid give a 15-cent tea next Thursday afternoon beginning at three. It will be held in the church and will no doubt be worthy of its predecessors.

Mr. M. Johnson, of Tabor, provincial mine inspector, was in town last Thursday. He inspected the local coal mine and informed the Review that it was in fairly good condition.

Miss Jennie Webb has been in town for three years and very popular with young and old, left this morning on the early train for Minneapolis, where she intends to reside for some time.

As all the Review's staff except one have been off on a holiday for the past week this issue will be a little late. However now that they are all back on the job again we hope to get into the old swing by next issue.

A sale of home cooking will be held by the Baptist ladies on Saturday from 2 to 5.30 p. m., at Mrs. Washburn's. Baking, pies, white and brown bread, pies, cakes, short bread and other dainties will be on sale. Ice cream or afternoon tea will be served.

Tom Fountain, the genial man-about-town, has decided to stay with Redcliff, and is now reading on First street south, with "gas" connection completed. Tom's range of vision, with this new motive power, should make him in very truth, a "terror to evil-doers."

Mayor Bott has obtained a new gun, whether it is British, eagle gun or a French 75 we have not been informed. No doubt he expects to be the "high gun" on the first. We are withholding our opinion but trust that he does not have to buy ham and eggs for his dinner.

Mayor Bott was visiting at Bowell on Sunday afternoon and reports crops in that district are in excellent condition. He considers the locality very conducive to the study of philosophy but we are at a loss to know what this has to do with the crop outlook.

Mr. E. L. Aslman is in receipt of a liberal consignment of "dried fruit and angel-food" from the sunny slopes of California. We have no doubt but he will share his good fortune as, with his flute, he pours forth "profuse strains of unrepentant art."

New Courtenays and veiveteens at Gibson & Tupper.

School opens next Tuesday. Get your pencils and school supplies at Blundell's. See our windows.

Mr. H. E. Howard is representing the local S. O. E. lodge at the convention of the Grand Lodge of Alberta at Red Deer Monday next.

Bring your list of school-text books and supplies to Blundell's; we'll do the rest. Our prices are right. Phone 20.

Mrs. Wm. Moran was taken to the Medicine Hat hospital last Thursday morning, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis. She is improving fast and is expected she will be home again in a few days.

The young daughter of Mrs. Brayley was taken to the hospital in the flat last Monday suffering with appendicitis. She has since been operated on and at last accounts she was doing quite well.

Mr. H. W. Harper, manager of the Royal bank, is very busily engaged as expert gunsmith, and general all-round mechanic; these days, if your wheelbarrow doesn't eject shells promptly give him a trial.

One of our leading citizens had occasion to put himself up with a "jerk" on Tuesday last when endeavoring to secure gasoline, prior to having secured a license to operate his car. The temporary embarrassment re-deployed "getting tank filled," has given place to a genial smile since he has made application for registration as a reliable driver.

E. J. Crowe, proprietor of the Ideal Tobacco Store and Billiard Parlor, has established a reputation for being a man of many parts. For some time past his not unusual respect for the explicit purposes of reducing surplus overplugs, have been spectacular. Mr. "Crow" now vies with the wood-pecker. This bird finds its hole deeper as winter approaches, while Mr. Crowe rises with the sun to close up all the cracks in and around his home building.

G. W. Heade, enterprising manager of the local branch of the Imperial bank, has had an interesting week being a man of many parts. For some time past his not unusual respect for the explicit purposes of reducing surplus overplugs, have been spectacular. Mr. "Crow" now vies with the wood-pecker. This bird finds its hole deeper as winter approaches, while Mr. Crowe rises with the sun to close up all the cracks in and around his home building.

Pred O'Fallon, of the City Meat Market, has secured a pair of Chinese ducks to use as decoys during the shooting season. These beautiful birds are on exhibition at the shop. As the visitor glances with wrapt admiration on these live feathered beauties, O'Fallon—waxes eloquent on their selective possibilities. Their range of vision is some ten miles; their squawk is easily heard the same distance, and all that is necessary with such decoys, which will never stop squawking when anchored in clear water, is to place them where ducks were seen last year, and " presto," the wild ducks approach in myriads formation. Mr. O'Fallon is so convinced of the excellency of his brand of decoys he claims his wife will be able to gather in "vassas backs" with her arrow if she takes a position anywhere near these Chinese decoys, in fact these ducks will produce better results if placed in the back yard than will be realized by all the sports with "pump guns and double-barreled shot-guns."
